

HARCUS PARKER

Harcus Parker is collaborating exclusively with Paul Moore and his team at Claims.com to seek redress for businesses across all industries harmed by Mastercard and Visa's unlawful imposition of Multilateral Interchange Fees (MIFs) on card transactions.

Extensive investigations in the US, EU and recent litigation in the UK have established that these MIFs are anti-competitive and therefore unlawful and also follow successful settlements where similar cases resulted in significant compensation payments. Businesses affected by these fees have collectively incurred billions of pounds in losses and deserve proper compensation.

We invite businesses, schools, charities, faith groups, and community organisations to join the class action claim for compensation on a no-win, no-fee, insurance-backed basis. By collaborating with Claims.com, you will save invaluable time, resources, and substantial costs with Harcus Parker holding exclusive Certification from the Competition Appeals Tribunal to run the class action.

We are committed to providing a streamlined and supportive process for all businesses and look forward to achieving positive outcomes through this initiative.

Sincerely,

Jeremy Robinson and Tom Ross
